

Readme

Project Titel: “Empowering Social Transformation through Family, Health and Free Time Activities”

Project Goal

The FaWellTy project aims to enhance community resilience and well-being by developing a unified platform that strengthens family bonds, improves access to health resources, and fosters a culture of solidarity.

This goal emphasizes the interconnection between the three core elements of the project family, health, and solidarity by highlighting their mutual reinforcement. The project will not treat these elements as separate entities but will weave them together to create a holistic ecosystem that supports individuals and families in a comprehensive manner. For example, the community forum will not only serve as a space for sharing and support but will also disseminate health information and encourage actions that build solidarity. The health resource center will provide information that supports family health and well-being, while also promoting community health initiatives that strengthen communal ties. The activity planner will suggest family-oriented activities that contribute to both physical health and social cohesion.

Prototype

The demonstrator developed in the context of this Knowledge Entrepreneurship Project can be tested on local machine by clicking on the index.html file in the project folder:

The online Demo can be found on the GitHub page:

<https://pascalahia.github.io/FaWellTy-/index.html>